Technical Analysis

Strategy: KSE-100 closed at 180,104.61, down 206 points, after trading between 180,035 and 181,434. The index is consolidating around the 180,000 level, while the short-term trend remains range-bound with immediate resistance at 181,500–182,000; a sustained breakout above this zone can open the way towards 183,000–183,500. On the downside, 179,500 is the immediate support, followed by 178,500–178,000, while a break below 178,000 would weaken the near-term structure. Overall, the index is in consolidation mode and a breakout above 182,000 is required for fresh upside momentum.
